

EUROPEAN HOLOCAUST RESEARCH INFRASTRUCTURE

EHRI Newsletter - May 2013

National Reports Published on EHRI Website

03/04/2013

A new tool for researchers is now available on the website of the European Holocaust Research Infrastructure: EHRI's national reports. The national reports are first and foremost a tool in the identification and investigation work of EHRI. Because the field of Holocaust studies relies on a huge variety of archives, one of EHRI's most important tasks is to create an inventory of Holocaust-related archival institutions and collections in order to share information about them and help provide access to the research community. The 47 reports provide EHRI's identification work with a structured framework.

EHRI Meetings in Amsterdam

13/05/2013

EHRI engages with related projects and organisations

In April EHRI held its third General Partner

Meeting in Amsterdam, hosted by NIOD Institute for War, Holocaust and Genocide Studies. Once a year all twenty partners get together to discuss the progress of the project and the next steps to take. EHRI is more than halfway into its term and has so far fulfilled all expectations.

EHRI Maps the Greek Holocaust Archives

18/02/2013

On 4 December 2012, an EHRI workshop on Greek Holocaust-related archives took place in Athens. Presided by Dr. Veerle Vanden Daelen (Ceges-Soma, 'Identification & Investigation' Work Package leader in EHRI) and co-organized by Dr. Agiatis Benardou (Athena RC/IMIS, EHRI user requirements), an EHRI delegation met with a representative sample of the Greek Holocaust research community, including members of major universities, museums and archival institutions.
